SBI Clerk 2023 Marks Normalization

9

Let's begin by understanding the essence of marks normalisation. Essentially, it's a statistical approach used to offset any disparities in exam difficulty that might occur between different shifts of the same test. Since various shifts can have varying levels of question complexity, a simple score-to-score comparison might not be equitable. Thus, normalization intervenes to create parity, ensuring a fairer assessment of candidates.

SBI employs the equi-percentile method for marks normalization in the 2023 SBI clerk examination. The formula used is:

Your percentile rank = {(Total number of students in a slot) - (Your rank in that slot) / (Total number of students in a slot – 1)} x 100.

This formula determines your percentile rank. However, the cutoff depends on the vacancies released by SBI. If your percentile rank surpasses the determined cutoff, you'll qualify for the subsequent round.

Having clarified the Marks Normalization process, would you like us to delve into details about the SBI Clerk application procedure?
